Dear Museum Members,

Spring is the time of plans and projects. – Leo Tolstoy

And so, this spring, HMA's calendar is filled with a wealth of happenings! Beginning with the Guild's Annual Fundraiser, Unframed: Off to the Races, on May 7, guests donning their Derby hats will enjoy live music, tasty treats, chilled mint juleps, all the while, celebrating the storied Kentucky Derby! I hope to see you at the races!

As you will see from the images on the pages 24-27, this year's 31st Annual GALA returned to our traditional celebration with sold-out attendance at the luncheon, the dinner and the cocktail party. GALA is the most significant HMA fundraiser each year, and this weeklong celebration of events requires "a village" to successfully implement, coordinate and supervise all the many moving pieces to achieve the success it has become. I am grateful to the GALA Chairs, HMA Board, and the staff for taking on added responsibilities leading up to this event.

If you have visited Blenheim Palace in Woodstock, Oxfordshire, England, you will know how impressive this World Heritage site is. Blenheim Palace is the seat of the Dukes of Marlborough and the only non-royal, non-episcopal country house in England to hold the title of palace. The Museum's popular Voices of Our Times series closes its 2022 season on Thursday evening, June 2, with special guest Lady Henrietta Spencer-Churchill. This event is for members only, and attendance is limited to 175. Guests will enjoy cocktails in the gallery visiting with Lady Spencer-Churchill, then her presentation followed by a formal dinner prepared by Chef James Boyce in Lorretta Spencer Hall. Tickets can be reserved by visiting the Museum's website. You will not want to miss this exclusive event.

Photographer Dorothea Lange captured raw, emotionally charged images of the Great Depression and the Dust Bowl, which documented the painful struggles of the rural poor.

Lange had little interest in classifying her photographs as art: she made them to effect social change, and that she did during her four-decade career. In the mid-1930s, Lange photographed rural Alabama capturing images of sharecroppers and the hardships of hoe culture. This Museum exhibition is, in many ways, timely in that, as with the time with Lange, we are witnessing extreme human suffering nationally and internationally.

Finally, the Board of Trustees announced that Sunday, Memorial Day weekend this and every following year, will be designated the Betsy and Peter Lowe Community Free Day at the Museum. The day will offer free admission to all guests from noontime to 5:00 p.m. and will be the perfect opportunity for the residents of Huntsville to see what we do so well – featuring exceptional art. It is our way of giving back to this vibrant community.

Christopher J. Madkour
Executive Director

Beauty, Passion and Bliss: 19th-Century Masterworks from the Dahesh Museum of Art

Now through July 3, 2022 | Huth, Boeing and Salmon Galleries

The Dahesh Museum of Art is the only museum in the United States devoted to the collection and exhibition of European academic art of the 19th and 20th century. The collection, located in Manhattan, originated with Lebanese writer, humanist, and philosopher Salim Moussa Achi, whose pen name was Dr. Dahesh. The core of the museum's holdings consists of Dahesh's collection of more than 2,000 academic paintings, which includes many notable Orientalist paintings.

Beauty, Passion, and Bliss features paintings and sculptures that embody the 19th-century European academic tradition. Nearly every city in Europe and, later, the Americas and Australia, developed an academy; the most important of the modern period, and the one upon which many others modeled their own systems of promotion, patronage, display, and teaching, was the French Academy.

Drawn from the rich collection of the Dahesh Museum of Art, the exhibition features a surprisingly wide range of themes and styles. There are historical, religious, and mythological pictures, considered the highest form of art, as well as examples of the ways in which historical themes were transformed into intimate, detailed genre scenes that, along with landscapes and idealized rustic subjects, appealed to the middle-class, and wealthy European and American collectors. Well represented, too, is Orientalism – highly popular images of the Middle East and North Africa that freely commingled reality and fantasy.

Art by American Women from the Sellars Collection

Now through June 26, 2022 | Chan Gallery

The permanent collection of the Huntsville Museum of Art was dramatically enhanced in 2008 by the acquisition of the Sellars Collection of Art by American Women. This private holding of historical works was formulated by Louise and Alan Sellars of Marietta, Georgia, to celebrate the achievements of important female artists active between roughly 1850 and 1940. Works in the Sellars Collection range from early efforts in the folk tradition through sophisticated accomplishments reflecting the various influences of European modernism – from Impressionism through early Abstraction.

The Huntsville Museum of Art now has the privilege of preserving and exhibiting the Sellars Collection for all to discover and enjoy. Approximately two dozen selected highlights will be presented in this exhibition, underscoring the quality and breadth of the Collection, and offering viewers the opportunity to experience over a century of outstanding art produced by accomplished American women.

Encounters: Aimee Perez

Now through July 10, 2022 | Grisham Gallery

The latest exhibition in the Museum's long-standing Encounters series focuses on the accomplished works of Aimee Perez, an engaging mixed-media sculptor from Miami, Florida. Perez's artmaking practice centers around human forms – with their gestures and emotions, lives and relationships – creating archetypes that transcend the context of their story. Through the exploration of contemporary, religious and biblical themes, Perez creates sculptures that explore the paradoxical truths of suffering and redemption, grief and comfort. She works with various types of clays fired at high or low temperatures and surfaced with oxide washes, slips, terra sigillata, engobes and glazes. She has also been known to layer her pieces with encaustic, wax, metals, glass, fiber, and found objects. Perez considers her work as her voice – a dialogue with the observer and simultaneously a self-exploration.

At age 12, Perez left her native Havana, Cuba, for the United States with her family through the Freedom Flights, and grew up in Miami in a Cuban immigrant community. In 1989 she moved to Mexico City and continued painting and exhibiting with Cuban and Mexican artists, absorbing influences of Mesoamerican art that continue to resonate in her production. Perez returned to Miami in 2006, where she continues to live and create.

DOROTHEA LANGE'S AMERICA

May 15-August 7, 2022 | Adtran, Jurenko and Thurber Galleries

The Huntsville Museum of Art is proud to present a focused exhibition of original lifetime prints by the legendary documentary photographer, Dorothea Lange (1895-1965). Her empathetic images of migrant workers, suffering families, and tortured landscapes seared the faces of the Great Depression into America's consciousness. Her most celebrated photographs of that era have become icons in American cultural history. Indeed, White Angel Breadline, Migratory Cotton Picker, and most famously, Migrant Mother, Nipomo, California, became emblematic pictures that came to personify pride and resilience in the face of abject poverty in 1930s America. The exhibition surveys the arc of Lange's career with images dating from 1929 to 1964, and is supplemented with photographs by other notable social documentarians of the era, including Walker Evans, Ben Shahn, Russell Lee, and Mike Disfarmer.

Lange herself had known adversity early in life. At age 7 she was stricken with polio, which left her with a lifetime limp. And at age 12 her father disappeared from the scene, leaving an impoverished household behind. Every day she would ride the ferry with her mother from Hoboken, New Jersey to lower Manhattan, to a roiling working-class neighborhood teeming with immigrants.

During that period Lange talked her way into photo courses with a range of teachers as diverse as Arnold Genthe and Clarence White. In 1918 she moved to San Francisco where she befriended photographers Ansel Adams and Imogen Cunningham, and, through them, the celebrated Western painter Maynard Dixon, who became her first husband. She soon opened a thriving portrait studio that catered to San Francisco's professional class and monied elite.

But with the crash of 1929 Lange found her true calling, as a peripatetic chronicler of the many faces of America, old and young, urban and rural, native-born and immigrant, as they dealt with unprecedented hardship, sometimes with resilience, often with despondence. Lange's working method was gentle, open, and personal. She engaged her photographic subjects in conversation, winning their confidence and their consent to be photographed. Ironically, her limp, which marked her as someone who had suffered in her own way, helped her to disarm and bond with her subjects. Lange's pictures typically focus on a single figure even amidst a crowd shot. And work – its presence or absence – is a constant theme, connected, perhaps, to a frequent emphasis on people's hands.

The importance of Lange's Depression-era work was recognized almost immediately, and led to a long and fruitful collaboration with the New Deal's Farm Security Administration (FSA). After World War II, she was the first woman photographer awarded a Guggenheim fellowship, helped found Aperture magazine, and was honored by the Museum of Modern Art with a career retrospective. Her most important achievement, however, is that her Depression-era work served in a real way to alleviate the suffering of the very people she chronicled: it raised public awareness of the dire need for federal assistance around the country, and helped convince Congress to provide it.

Drawn from the private collection of Michael Mattis and Judith Hochberg, Dorothea Lange's America has been organized by art2art Circulating Exhibitions.

Encounters: Vadis Turner

July 31-November 27, 2022 | Grisham Gallery

Nashville artist Vadis Turner transforms domestic materials into new forms, both reviving and reinventing a function for handmade objects in a society with progressively fewer hands-on activities. The artist manipulates textiles and other elements, allowing them to transcend their intended functions, contradict their structural natures, and transcend their traditional gender association. Resisting categorization, Turner's engaging works occupy a zone between textile art, painting, craft and sculpture.

After receiving her BFA and MFA from Boston University, Turner became fascinated by the possibilities presented by traditional handicraft materials to define and contradict conventional gender roles. Her mixed-media work began with a debutante gown made out of wax paper from her mother's kitchen.

She continues to create works that transcend the commonplace from its intended function into a vehicle for social commentary. The artist observes, "Transforming domestic materials into contemporary art objects bonds me with ancestral forms of craft that determine a woman's value, sexual worth and cultural identity. My time – like generations of women before me – is judged by what I make with my hands."

Turner was awarded the Joan Mitchell Painters and Sculptors Grant in 2016. Her works are included in the permanent collections of the Brooklyn Museum, the Arts and Crafts Museum and the Hunter Museum of American Art, among others. She has had exhibitions at numerous museums across the country, including the Brooklyn Museum, the Andy Warhol Museum, the Minnesota Museum of American Art, the Knoxville Museum of Art, and Cheekwood Museum and Gardens. Residencies include Yaddo, the Museum of Arts & Design, the Hambidge Center, and the Vermont Studio Center.

Turner is currently the Hamlet Artist in Residence at Vanderbilt University, and is represented by Zeitgeist Gallery in Nashville and Geary in New York City.

A Beautiful Mess: Weavers and Knotters of the Vanguard

July 24 - October 16, 2022 | Huth, Boeing and Salmon Galleries

A Beautiful Mess: Weavers and Knotters of the Vanguard is a vibrant contemporary textile exhibition organized by the Bedford Gallery at the Leshner Center for the Arts in Walnut Creek, CA. It features a diverse selection of fiber arts including wall-hangings, installations, and monumental pieces.

Made by an all-female roster of conceptual artists, the exhibition showcases twisted, tied, and braided works made from tactile and utilitarian materials like rope, yarn, clay, and wire. The artists featured are Windy Chien, Kirsten Hassenfield, Dana Hemenway, Kira Dominguez Hultgren, dani lopez, Hannah Perrine Mode, Liz Robb, Meghan Shimek, Lisa Solomon, Katrina Sánchez Standfield, and Jacqueline Surdell. Collectively, they push the boundaries of fiber art and elevate the status of weaving and knotting from craft to fine art.

The artists infuse their works with personal stories and socio-political concerns to further revolutionize the previously marginalized genre of fiber arts.

From micro artworks the size of your hand to mammoth, room-sized installations, the diverse works included in A Beautiful Mess push the boundaries of their chosen medium.

While the means of production vary tremendously for each artist, they find commonality in their pursuit to upend the status quo. By bringing their unique stories to the forefront, these artists draw from potent source material to create sculptures and installations staggering in beauty and conceptual backing.

As artist Kira Dominguez Hultgren puts it, "weaving is about strange combinations." Whether by utilizing non-traditional materials, tapping into personal memories, or untangling complex histories, the artists in A Beautiful Mess strive to revolutionize our conceptions of contemporary fiber art.

Betty Grisham: A Celebration

July 24- October 16, 2022 | Haws Gallery

The Museum is pleased to have this opportunity to present a memorial exhibition of artworks by beloved Huntsville artist and arts advocate Betty Grisham, who passed away last year at the venerable age of 99. A North Alabama native, she earned her BA in Fine Art and Education at Montevallo College in 1942, and MA in Fine Art Education from Columbia University Teachers College in 1945. After teaching and exhibiting in Atlanta and Birmingham, she settled in Huntsville in 1963, where she continued to experiment with textiles and the applied arts including needlepoint, rugmaking and fabric design.

Her unique garments for the commercial market were sold in New York and elsewhere, and she founded a business designing custom hand painted and printed fabrics for interior design. Grisham also became an important advocate of the Huntsville Art League, as well as a key supporter and patron of the Huntsville Museum of Art. She retired in the mid 1990s and continued to work from her home studio on paintings, wall hangings and needlepoints for many years.

Grisham's art was often inspired by the colors and shapes of nature, interpreted through her lively imagination and confident use of abstraction. She easily moved between bold drama and poetic restraint in her works, and the Museum's collection of 24 paintings, textiles, prints and collages exemplify her broad skill set. Her artworks are uniquely personal, combining traditional handwork like embroidery and fabric dying with abstracted, bold patterning. Reflecting upon what inspired her creativity, the artist once said: "Winter's fiery sunsets, I see and enjoy them every day. Then I do drawings that become other works. Things that are growing – nature, I come back to it more and more. Changes of the seasons and the subtlety of nature inspire my work. I have

A World Within:

Art by Women from the Permanent Collection

August 20 - October 29, 2022

Adtran, Jurenko, Thurber and Guild Galleries

Utilizing works found within the Museum's acclaimed permanent collection, A World Within presents a diverse array of art by women that explores a range of media and subject matter with broad variation in style and method.

Traditionally accepted feminine art practices are being embraced, ignored, or transformed, as each artist sees fit, across the spectrum of women's art. Accordingly, this exhibition examines some of the ways that female artists evolve their chosen mediums, contemplate the world, and represent themselves and other women. Throughout the exhibition there is a subtle duality at play, encompassing both what is portrayed and the imagined world of the artist's creation. The viewer is thus invited to consider the works on display in a complex way, and to make unexpected connections throughout the galleries.

Lady Henrietta Spencer-Churchill

Date TBA

Cocktails 5:30 p.m. | Talk 6:30 p.m. | Dinner 7:30 p.m.

$200 per person (Museum Members only) | Cocktail Attire

Henrietta Spencer-Churchill is the eldest child and only daughter of John Spencer-Churchill, 11th Duke of Marlborough. Blenheim Palace, her country house in Woodstock, Oxfordshire, England, is the seat of the Dukes of Marlborough and the only non-royal, non-episcopal country house in England to hold the title of palace. The palace, one of England's largest houses, was built between 1705 and 1722, and designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1987.

Designed in the rare, and short-lived, English Baroque style, architectural appreciation of the palace is as divided today as it was in the 1720s. It is unique in its combined use as a family home, mausoleum and national monument. The palace is notable as the birthplace and ancestral home of Sir Winston Churchill.

Following the palace's completion, it became the home of the Churchill (later Spencer-Churchill) family for the next 300 years, and various members of the family have wrought changes to the interiors, park and gardens. At the end of the 19th century, the palace was saved from ruin by funds gained from the 9th Duke of Marlborough's marriage to American railroad heiress Consuelo Vanderbilt.

Lady Spencer-Churchill studied Art History in Italy and France before enrolling at the Inchbald School of Design in London. She started her Interior Design business "Woodstock Designs" in 1981 and specializes in the restoration and refurbishment of period and listed buildings with emphasis placed on conserving their historic value and features whilst bringing them into the 21st century. Many of her commissions are abroad which involves the challenges of learning about and incorporating local cultures and trends.

As well as her Interior Design business much of her time is dedicated to the overseeing of the restorations of her family home Blenheim Palace, the running of the Blenheim Foundation and organizing special and fund raising events.

Blenheim Palace, near Woodstock, Oxfordshire, England, built (1705–24) by the English Parliament as a national gift to John Churchill, 1st duke of Marlborough.

On Thursday evening, February 3, the Museum presented a sold-out Voices of Our Times event with Sylvia Yount, The Metropolitan Museum of Art's Chief Curator of the American Wing. The evening was hosted by Museum Director Christopher Madkour, Voices of Our Times Chair Leslie Crosby, and Dr. Carl Gessler. The event was in honor of longtime Museum Benefactors Betsy and Peter Lowe.

The festivities started with 165 guests enjoying cocktails and canapés in the galleries, serenaded by members of the Huntsville Symphony Orchestra. Following cocktails, guests made their way to Loretta Spencer Hall, where Sylvia Yount presented an insightful presentation, Rethinking the Met's American Wing. Immediately following Sylvia's talk, Chef James Boyce and his team served a delicious three-course dinner, paired with a selection of fine wines. During dessert, Kudzu Productions created a touching video highlighting the Lowe's many contributions to the museum, to Huntsville and Alabama. Mayor Tommy Battle then presented a proclamation honoring Betsy and Peter Lowe's years of philanthropy to the Museum. The evening was exceptional from beginning to end!

Naming Gift Opportunities

November, 2021-March, 2022

Naming gift opportunities at the Huntsville Museum of Art have a tangible impact on our mission to bring people and art together. While supporting the building fund, these gifts allow us to honor and recognize our incredible patrons and friends of the Museum.

If you are interested in naming gift opportunities at the Museum, please contact Andrea Petroff at 256-535-4350 ext. 214 or apetroff@hsvmuseum.org.

The championship golf course is only the beginning of the story.

Endowment Support

November, 2021-March, 2022

A gift to the Huntsville Museum of Art's endowment is one of the most enduring contributions you can make to the Museum. Endowed funds play an essential role in our future growth and long-term financial security. A donation to the endowment fund may be designated for a specific program, art purchase or directed to unrestricted use.

If you are interested in making a gift to the Museum's endowment fund, please contact Andrea Petroff at 256-535-4350 ext. 214 or apetroff@hsvmuseum.org.

There are many ways to give to the Museum and each donor should consider the different methods and find the one that best suits their current situation. Your contribution to the Museum makes a significant difference and we are deeply grateful for your generosity to the arts. If you have any questions about the ways of giving, please contact the Director of Development, Andrea Petroff, at 256.535.4350 ext. 214.
